++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Warm over the weekend but nights remaining chilly.

Today:
A cold start will soon turn warm in another fine and sunny day. High cloud for some will give hazier sunshine, and it will be remaining breezy along the south coast. Maximum temperature 18 deg C (64 deg F).

Tonight:
Remaining fine and dry this evening and overnight, although quickly turning rather cold. Clear skies will allow frost to form in places. Minimum temperature 0 deg C (32 deg F).

Sunday:
After a chilly start, it will soon warm up with plenty of sunshine in another fine and dry day. Windy in the south. Feeling warm, however cooler than previous days. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Largely fine and dry on Monday before cloud moves in overnight to become showery on Tuesday and Wednesday. Initially warm but turning cooler with a continued overnight frost risk.
